The Strata Seal

A high desert horizon, held in a seal.

The mark reads as a surveyor's roundel: four strata bands — sky, range, mid-ground, and basalt — with a low rust sun, set inside a juniper ring. It is the constant identity. It does not change month to month; the website masthead artwork rotates, the seal holds.

Use the full lockup by default. Use the seal alone only where the name already appears nearby.

Clear space & use

CLEAR SPACE

Keep at least half the seal's diameter clear on every side of the mark or lockup.

Don't

- Recolor the strata bands or the sun.
- Rotate, skew, or add shadows and effects to the seal.
- Set the wordmark in any face other than Besley.
- Place the mark on a busy photo without a solid panel behind it.
- Stretch or change the proportions of the lockup.

MINIMUM SIZE

Seal no smaller than 20px or 7mm. In the lockup, the wordmark no smaller than 16px.

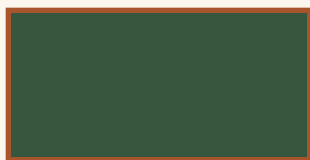

ON DARK — RING & WORDMARK GO BONE

Brand voice

Plain, declarative, grounded in Central Oregon. A neighbor, not a startup — warm, sturdy, and specific.

Sound like

- Concrete and specific over abstract.
- Warm, civic, sturdy — like a neighbor.
- Honest scope; never overclaim.
- Always credit local artists.

Avoid

- Contrastive “not X — Y” reframes.
- Negative triads (“no ads, no tracking, no...”).
- “By design,” and hype words.
- Heavy em-dashes and breathless tone.

07

Backgrounds & applications

Steppe

LIGHT – PAPER OR BONE

Steppe

DARK – JUNIPER OR BASALT

RUST IS AN ACCENT

Use rust in small doses — a rule, a marker, a single button — never as a background field. Paper and bone carry the light layouts; juniper and basalt-deep carry the dark.
